Retirement Paul Nolan

Paul Nolan, Quality, Training & Development Manager has announced his retirement, with his last working day being June 26th 2015. Paul's commitment, dedication and contribution to REDARC are worthy of admiration and will be greatly missed.

Anthony Kittel, REDARC's Managing Director said "Paul's attention to detail, motivation and constantly striving for perfection have ensured that REDARC continue to raise the bar in terms of our product quality and business systems. Paul has implemented a Stage Gate Project Management System into REDARC that has been embraced and ensured the business is continuously focused on improving and maximising efficiency within the business, it will be his legacy and is greatly appreciated".

"We congratulate Paul on a well-deserved retirement and would like to wish him every happiness for the future".
